

300,000 HOMELESS IN STRICKEN CITY OF SAN FRANCISCO

Flames Which Threatened to Utterly Destroy the Entire City Were Said to Be Under Control At a Late Hour Today--Martial Law Was Not Declared --Loafers About the City Are Forced to Work at Point of Revolver.

TWO SHOCKS IN LOS ANGELES TODAY

Buildings Rocked Like a Boat, According to Dispatcher---Then Communication Ceased, Not to Be Re-opened.

Washington, D. C., April 19, 3 p. m.—The War Department has received the following Western Union bulletin from San Francisco: "Los Angeles says the buildings there rocked like a boat today. Connection with Los Angeles, lost immediately after this report. Men probably left."

New York, April 19, 3:30 p. m.—A Postal message announces two distinct earthquakes were felt in Los Angeles at 3:35 p. m. eastern time. No details.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.] San Francisco, April 19.—The day dawned on scenes of death and destruction. During the night the flames consumed many of the city's finest structures. It swept in a dozen different directions. The flames made their way over into the north beach section and sprang up anew in the south. They reached out along the shipping section and down the bay shore, over the hills and across toward Third and Townsend streets. The warehouses and manufacturing concerns fell in their path and this completed the destruction of the entire district known as "south of Market street."

FIRE HAS REACHED KNOB HILL SECTION

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.] New York, April 19.—The Western Union reports early this morning say the fire has spread into the Knob Hill section of San Francisco.

On Knob Hill are the residences of many of the millionaires who in the early '70s became wealthy through mining investments or the construction of the Central Pacific railroad. They include the Stanfords, Huntingtons, Hopkins, Crockers, Floods and others. The magnificent Fairmount Hotel, not yet completed, stands on the brink of Knob Hill, overlooking the bay. The construction of the hotel was started by Mrs. Herman Oelrichs of New York as a monument to her father, the late United States senator James Fair, but she recently sold it for $3,000,000.

TERRIBLE TIDINGS FROM A WIDE AREA

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.] San Francisco, April 19.—Reports from the interior are most alarming. Santa Rosa is a total wreck. Ten thousand are homeless and the loss of life will probably reach into the thousands. Not one business building is left intact and the greater portion of the residence section is destroyed. Messengers bring sad tidings of the destruction of Holdesburg, Cloverdale, Hopland, and Ukiah. This report takes in the country as far north as Endocino and the lake counties as far west as the Pacific ocean. In every case the loss of life and property is shocking.

200,000 HOMELESS SAYS GEN. FUNSTON

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.] Washington, D. C., April 19.—Gen. Funston of San Francisco telegraphed the war department today that martial law has not been declared; and that the troops are working with the civil authorities; that the sending of dispatches has not been interfered with. He reports that two hundred thousand people are homeless. Food is scarce, as all the provision houses have been destroyed and the department cannot send too many tents and rations. The mint at San Francisco escaped serious damage and the money is safe. The department has just received the following bulletin: "Fire engines sent from neighboring towns to San Francisco were found useless on account of the total lack of water. They are now being sent back. Firemen report that the city is doomed."

OAKLAND SEES DOOM OF THE GOLDEN CITY

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.] Oakland, Calif., April 19.—San Francisco is doomed. Fires still raging and there is no possibility of stopping it until it burns itself out. The water power supply is again cut off. Explosives for blowing up buildings are exhausted. Every business block and half the residence portion has been destroyed. The district on the top of Knob Hill on California street, between Powell and Mason streets, is entirely gone. Over a hundred thousand are rendered homeless.

HOPE ABANDONED BY MOST SANGUINE

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.] San Francisco, Calif., April 19, 10 a. m.—Those who have been most sanguine regarding the ultimate success of the firemen in their efforts to control the flames, have given up hope. They are fleeing from the flames in despair. Many people are being burned alive, imprisoned in doomed buildings where rescuers cannot reach them. The workers have destroyed block after block of residences with dynamite in the hope of stemming the fires, but their efforts have been unsuccessful.

TELEGRAPH AND RY. BUILDINGS GONE

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.] San Francisco, Calif., April 19.—The Western Union and Southern Pacific buildings have been totally destroyed. The fire is burning rapidly in a diagonal line up the hill, commencing at McAllister and ending at Battery street, also on Main street as far as 14th street. The wind is rising. The military authorities have forbidden anyone to enter the city. There is great suffering from lack of food and water. Thousands of people are lined up in the park waiting for the soldiers to distribute water.

GUNS ENCOURAGE LOUNGERS TO TOIL

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.] San Francisco, Calif., April 19.—Officers with drawn revolvers are forcing citizens to work. People leaving their homes and fleeing to Golden Gate park and the Presidio all night long made up a constant stream of humanity. A hundred thousand people slept outdoors last night and by tonight the number of homeless will reach three hundred thousand. It is impossible to estimate accurately the number of people killed or the property loss.

CARLISTS BECOME ACTIVE IN SPAIN

Many Object to Marriage of King and English Princess and Throw Themselves to Pretender.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.] London, April 19.—Information has been received in London from a reliable source to the effect that the Carlists are very active in Spain just now, and that their attitude is more menacing than it has been for many years past. The coming royal marriage is viewed with extreme disfavor by many sections of the Spanish nation, who have never forgiven England for the part she played in the Spanish-American war, and the late Lord Salisbury's offensive reference to a "decaying nation." Many of those who are strongest in their objection to King Alfonso marrying an English princess are said to be throwing themselves into the Carlist cause, and a deep-seated movement is believed to be on foot throughout Spain to undermine the present dynasty, and to strike another blow for Don Carlos and his family.

NEW PRESIDENT OF TEXAS UNIVERSITY INSTALLED TODAY

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Austin, Texas, April 19.—The inauguration of Dr. David Franklin Houston as president of the University of Texas, was a great day for the institution. Many alumni and friends were present, together with representatives of leading institutions of learning throughout the country. The exercises took place in the auditorium, which was elaborately decorated with the university colors—white and gold—and a lavish use of potted plants and cut flowers.

An invocation by Bishop Kinsolving was followed by an introductory address by Governor Lanham. The address for the alumni was made by Hon. Thomas E. Connolly, and for the faculty by Dr. George P. Garrison. Other speakers were Chancellor Jas. H. Kirkland of Vanderbilt university, President George E. McLean of the state University of Iowa, Superintendent of Public Instruction R. B. Cousins, and President Benjamin D. Wheeler of the University of California.

The address of installation was made by the Hon. T. B. Henderson, chairman of the board of regents. At the conclusion of the formal exercises President Houston delivered his inaugural address, in which he outlined the policy of his administration.

This evening the distinguished educators and other visitors are to be entertained by the citizens of Austin at a reception at the Driskill hotel. "David Franklin Houston, the new president of the University of Texas, comes to that institution from the Agricultural and Mechanical College of Texas, of which he has been president since 1902. He was born in North Carolina in 1866 and graduated from South Carolina college in 1887. Later he took courses at Harvard university and Tulane university. For several years he taught at South Carolina college and later was superintendent of the city schools at Spartanburg, S. C.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.] London, April 19.—About two-thirds of the people met in the streets of London today wearing primroses in their buttonholes in observance of Primrose day, otherwise the anniversary of the death of Lord Beaconsfield, who died April 19, 1881. The grave of the famous statesman in Hughendon cemetery was decorated, as was also the Beaconsfield monument in Parliament square. Crowds of people visited the statue during the day and deposited about its base beautiful primrose wreaths and shields suitably inscribed.

GUBERNATORIAL RACE IS BEGUN

Davidson Will Make Signed Statement Within Few Days Campaigning On Interview.

IS LEADING AMONG REPUBLICANS

I. L. Lenroot, The Choice Of La Follette, Has Second Place And Connor And McGillivray Hold Even For Third Honors.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Madison, Wis., April 19.—Politics in Wisconsin are shaping themselves for the first general primary election in September, when the parties will make their nominations by direct vote. Governor J. O. Davidson is the leading republican candidate for that office, with Speaker I. L. Lenroot, the La Follette personal choice, second, and Senator J. J. McGillivray and State Chairman W. D. Connor self-proclaimed, trailing behind. Governor Davidson is in the field on an authorized interview given out by his private secretary, Senator O. G. Munson, but will within a week or so make a formal statement of principles over his own signature. He says that the reason he has not done this before is the fact that state business has been pressing and he refuses to allow politics to interfere with official affairs. Senator McGillivray will fire his first campaign gun at a meeting at Camp Douglas Saturday night. Mr. Lenroot is making occasional addresses; some of them outside of Wisconsin, and Chairman Connor is quietly "sawing wood" in a personal canvass. Senator W. H. Halzen, who was considered seriously to be the most available candidate, is hardly considered now as the prospect of a compromise on a "dark horse" has practically vanished. If compromise is to be effected among the republicans, it will be upon one of the candidates now in the field, and the friends of Governor Davidson are firm in their demand that it be upon him. It has been responsibly suggested that Senator La Follette would make a "ten strike" by holding Speaker Lenroot back, throwing his influence to Governor Davidson and bringing the Superior man out as the candidate for Senator.

FRANCO-AMERICAN CELEBRATION PLANS

Statue of Franklin in Paris to Be Unveiled with Elaborate Ceremonies Tomorrow.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Paris, April 19.—The American colony in Paris are planning a notable Franco-American celebration tomorrow on the occasion of the unveiling of the statue of Benjamin Franklin. Ex-postmaster General Charles Emory Smith of Philadelphia is to deliver the oration of the day. The statue is the gift of John H. Harjes, Spencer's seat in the upper house, at Washington. There is little probability that any such thing will be done, for it is not in accordance with the political character of Senator La Follette. It is more like him to fight it out, even if he is defeated. Three elective state officers now in the capitol are candidates for third terms, a situation unprecedented in the history of the state. Walter L. Houser, secretary of state, is making a strenuous fight through the state railroad rate commission for reductions of freight and passenger rates, and it is charged that his motive is largely to gain a third nomination. There is no mistaking the fact that he is a strong candidate, nor that he is on the long root side of the gubernatorial fight. Senator J. A. Fear of Hudson, chairman of the legislative insurance investigation committee, is also a candidate for the nomination, and he is generally understood to be for Davidson and against Lenroot and Houser. J. J. Kempf of Milwaukee has circulated his preliminary nomination papers for a third term as treasurer, and Railroad Commissioner J. W. Thomas, whose office expires next January, is quietly working to secure the nomination that Mr. Kempf is seeking. Attorney General Sturdevant has finally announced that he will not seek a third term and Frank L. Gilbert of Madison, district attorney of Dane county, is out for the place. Zeno M. Host of the department is said to have already accepted a $12,000 insurance position with a large company, and is urging his deputy, Thomas M. Purcell of Madison, for the nomination as his successor. Other candidates for the state offices under governor are expected to multiply and Davidson and Lenroot slates will be formulated for the big canvass.

Stanford University Ruined.
Reports from the environs and neighboring cities of California brought additional stories of ruin and desolation. Tidings from Palo Alto were to the effect that Leland Stanford Jr.'s university had been almost completely wrecked by the earthquake shocks. All but one of the 26 buildings were said to have been overturned, including the million-dollar memorial chapel.

At Niles, Cal., the state asylum for the insane was demolished and fifty of the 700 inmates were reported to have been killed.

Big Loss at Salinas.
At Salinas, the Ellis hall, the Knights of Pythias building, the Masonic temple, and the $150,000 Spreckels sugar factory were destroyed. Loss, over $2,500,000. No fatalities.

At Del Monte a hotel collapsed and a bride and groom were killed in their room. At Hollister a Mrs. W. H. Griffith was instantly killed by the collapse of a cottage and her husband went violently insane.

Twenty Killed in San Jose.
At San Jose most of the large stone buildings were ruined. The Vendome hotel annex collapsed. Twenty bodies had been recovered from the wreckage.

There was a million-dollar property loss in Santa Rosa and the same city was threatened with a destructive fire. The property loss at Napa was estimated at $300,000. Reports showed that five had been killed at Oakland, 25 at Santa Rosa and 2 at Palo Alto.

Horror of Valencia.

The destruction of the four-story frame Valencia hotel was mentioned with scanty detail yesterday. Night dispatches told how the building sank into the basement, a pile of splintered timbers under which were pined men and dead and dying occupants of the house. The basement was full of water and some of the helpless victims were drowned.

Death to Looters.
In the wake of the catastrophe came the inevitable human vultures, the thieving prowlers and ghouls who sought to carry away plunder from the bodies of the dead. Prompt measures were taken. Gen. Fred Funston, in command of the department of the Pacific, was reported to have commanded his soldiers to shoot these offenders on sight.

own uses seems but the idle boast of an aut on his sorry little ant-hill.

The Hearst newspapers which anticipated the death of Susan B. Anthony by twelve hours, failed to perform a like miracle with the earthquake. Janesville patrons of the penny shockers who prefer "anticipated" news to reliable tidings were grievously disappointed when the pretended forenoon editions came in without a word about the San Francisco catastrophe.

In a book of short stories entitled "The Greater Inclination" which anticipates "The House of Mirth" by some years, Edith Wharton relates a vivid story of "The Coward" who basely left the good friend he had sworn to watch to die during a terrible earthquake in Italy and ever afterward sought in vain to imperil his life for another and regain his self-respect by proving that he was mad and false to himself when the act was committed.

RECORD TIME.
Just at this time the Gazette begs leave to call attention to the manner in which the great San Francisco disaster was handled in this office yesterday. The first news of the earthquake was received shortly before ten o'clock, and by eleven forty-five an extra edition of the Gazette with full details up to eleven o'clock was on the streets. Hundreds availed themselves of the opportunity to obtain early news of the awful happenings and the newsboys were kept busy. This only goes to prove the old, oft-repeated statement: "The Gazette keeps abreast of the times." The reports which came from early in the morning until the big press was started at four o'clock and when the regular edition was on the streets, a story complete in all details was to be found. The Associated Press reports were complete in all details and the Gazette readers had the complete story last night, that the Chicago papers gave this morning.

OFF IN A BUNCH.
The gubernatorial candidates are "off in a bunch." No one leads at the pole and they have not yet reached the quarter. Lenroot is forging ahead and his rider is whipping hard. McGilvray is being ridden hard and shows signs of weakening. Davidson is spurring but starting strong. Connor is laying back and will probably take a spur at the quarter pole. It is a youngsters' race and a sensational finish is looked for. All four are being well ridden and all four are eager for the home stretch where endurance will count. Of the four, Davidson and Connor seem to show the most endurance and should be either first or second, but they will be first is hard to say. They look like the candy just now but they may not last. It is thought McGilvray's rider will run his head off before he gets onto the home stretch while Lenroot is thought to be good for a bet on the finish.

AWFUL DISASTER.
News from San Francisco of the awful disaster that has overtaken the largest city on the Pacific coast increases in horror. The awful earthquake which shook this beautiful city of the west, the fire which followed has caused a disaster which is estimated in the neighborhood of sixty millions. Just how many lives are lost or how much property is destroyed will not be known for days, but it is safe to say that it is the greatest disaster that has ever stricken an American city. Owing to the number of Janesville people who are now making their homes in San Francisco, the interest is more here than elsewhere. The whole country shudders at the immensity of the devastation and grieves with the residents of the stricken city over its destruction.

PRESS COMMENT.
Keeping Up with Times
Chicago News: Just to be up with the times a volcano in the Canaries is now violating the smoke ordinance.

All Is Lost.
Exchange: The London Express says: "Dowie loses Zion City as well as his mind." What about his temper?

No Noise of the Kind.
Milwaukee News: However, there is no report yet of Walter Houser making a noise like a man that doesn't want an office.

Good Journeyman King.
Exchange: As Edward VII. has been a good, reliable journeyman king, the University of Pennsylvania feels that a degree of LL. D. is not too high an honor to confer on him.

Last Chance for Fame.
Milwaukee Sentinel: Rather than not get into print, at all, Charles Townie has compared President Roosevelt to Judas Iscariot.

Scarlet Tobacco Plant.
Chicago News: A scarlet tobacco plant has been evolved by a horticultural expert. If we just give the experts time enough they will probably come at us with a self-lighting cigar.

Any Habit Can Be Corrected.
Chicago Record-Herald: Lewis Morrison announces that he is going to quit playing "Faust" at the end of the season. This shows that it is possible for man to overcome almost any kind of habit.

Merely The Kissees.
Chicago Tribune: Mr. Carnegie strenuously insists that he was merely the kissees, but as the woman in the case testifies that his kiss "left nothing to be desired" he must have responded satisfactorily.

Plain Business Proposition.
Milwaukee Sentinel: The Boston Globe thinks the "old time reverence" for the tariff is waning. "Reverence" is hardly the word to apply to common sense assent to a plain business proposition that has worked well in practice.

Women's Right to Vote.
Evening Wisconsin: The decision of the supreme court of Wisconsin in the Madison case, to the effect that women have the right to vote on issues of school bonds came too late for the women of Milwaukee, who had the decision been made several weeks ago, could have taken a hand in the spring campaign.

Tired of Dirty Attacks.
Marquette Eagle-Star: The country is already sick of the magazines that have been filled with so-called exposures that are only dirty attacks on men and upon the United States senate and the house. We believe with the president, that our public men are nearly all honest and they must not be insulted because a few others have gone wrong.

No Place For Mob Law.
Racine Journal: Mob law can never be made an integral part of our modern civilization. All the tendencies of the time point the other way. It is true the crimes committed many times seem to merit such punishment to the offenders, but the greatest perils in giving vent to the same animal passions, only in a different way. The moral tone of any community which has witnessed such scenes as were enacted recently at Springfield is distinctly lowered thereby. The people are all the more ready for another lynching.

Various Kinds of Headache.
New York Press: "There are more than fifty kinds of headaches," said a physician, "and sufferers from the more common forms may cure themselves by locating the cause and treating themselves accordingly. The more frequent forms are a dull pain across the forehead, due to dyspepsia; a pain in the back of the head due to the liver; a bursting pain in both temples, due to malnutrition; an ache on the top of the head as though a weight pressed on the skull, due to overwork; an ache between the brows, just above the base of the nose, due to eye strain."

Wasted Advertising.
La Crosse Chronicle: The advertiser who scatters doggers all over town chuckles derisively at the suggestion that his method of gaining publicity is a nuisance. What does he care for the cleanliness of streets and front yards? He would have you understand that he is looking for results, and carping theorists who do not like his ways may go to. But does he really get the results? Is the assumption that dogger advertising pays, sustained by even the most superficial examination of the facts? It is true that quantities of doggers, wretchedly printed, on the worst of paper, may be had at a small expense. It is true that the cost of dropping them into areas or poking them under doors is not great. But what of that, as long as people do not want them, crumple them up unread into the kitchen fire? An illuminating letter on this subject, written by an intelligent and wrathful woman to the Chronicle, might be read with profit by all advertisers who think the money paid for doggers is well invested. The writer said she "would not buy a thing thus advertised, simply on account of the annoyance caused."

Talk By Dr. Crapsey.
Madison Journal: Dr. Crapsey, who has for twenty-six years been Episcopal minister at Rochester, N. Y., is about to be tried for heresy. He says some caustic things about modern Christianity. In fact so gloomy is the picture he sees that he chafes against the limitations in his particular field. He says in part:
"We are upon the threshold of a movement that shall carry mankind to a higher stage of being. No one is satisfied with the present conditions. The rich are ashamed and the poor are angered. The time is at hand for preaching the gospel to the poor. We will build no more cathedrals or churches, if we can help it, until we have delivered the poor from the slums and the sweatshop. We will send no missionaries to the heathen to preach a Christ whose name we glorify but whose teachings we despise."
"When our Christian merchants close their stores at a decent hour Saturday nights then we can expect to have hearty worship on Sunday morning. When the same merchants pay women whom they employ so that in these same girls and women are in no danger of having to sell their souls to keep their bodies alive; when we have honestly in trade and open dealing in corporations, why, then, and not till then, will the people think of coming to the churches."

Quietly Wedded.
LAST EVENING AT 7
Miss Luvia Maloy and Frank Dixon Wedded at the Baptist Parsonage.

Last evening at seven o'clock Miss Luvia Maloy, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Malloy, and Frank Dixon, both of this city, were united in marriage by Rev. R. M. Vaughan. The ceremony was very quiet, only the attendants, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Hathorn, being present. Mr. and Mrs. Dixon have gone to housekeeping at the corner of North and South High streets. Both contracting parties are well and popularly known. The groom is an employe at the Thoroughbred box factory, where he has been the past seventeen years.

Happily Wedded At.
EIGHT LAST NIGHT
James Newman and Effie Rice Were Principals in Pretty Ceremony Last Evening.

Miss Effie Rice and James Newman were happily wedded at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. C. J. Rice, at No. 14 Reger avenue last evening. The ceremony was performed at eight o'clock, the march being played by Miss Florence Parker and Henry Kellogg. A hundred friends and relatives were present. The bride is a graduate of the Janesville High school, class of 1900, and has been teaching school in the town of La Prairie. The groom is a successful farmer in the town of La Prairie, where the young couple will make their future home.

MAY NOT HAVE TO REMOVE THE EYE

Specialist from Chicago Made Examination of Vera Nolan This Morning.

Dr. Thomas A. Woodruff of the firm of Casey, Wood, Woodruff and Allport, the best known and greatest oculist firm of Chicago, came here last night and this morning made examination of Vera Nolan's eye, which was cut by a flying piece of glass in the chemical laboratory at the high school Tuesday. His findings were the same as those of Dr. Corydon C. Dwight, who attended the sight was hopelessly lost. It is possible, however, that the eyeball will be left for plastic purposes. This will be done unless inflammation sets in, under which circumstance it would be necessary to remove the eye to save the other optic. It will be four or five days before this can be ascertained. One of the peculiar conditions of the case is that the patient suffers very little pain.

NEW EDUCATIONAL BOARD ORGANIZED

Teachers—Mrs. Janet B. Day, chairman, Arthur Fisher and J. M. Thayer. Superintendent H. C. Buell is a member ex-officio of this committee.

Text Books, Equipment and Supplies—Arthur Fisher, chairman, Francis Grant and James Shearer.

The new members of the board are Arthur Fisher, commissioner at large; Francis Grant, commissioner from the second ward; William Kuhlman, commissioner from the fourth ward. The old members are: Dr. S. B. Buckmaster, commissioner at large; James Shearer, commissioner from the first ward; Mrs. Janet B. Day, commissioner from the third ward; J. M. L. S. HILLABRANDT HAS PASSED AWAY

Passed Away at Home on Glenetta Street This Morning at Half Past Two O'clock.

L. S. Hillabrandt, one of Janesville's prominent residents and business-men, died this morning at half-past two o'clock at his home on Glenetta street, as the result of a stroke of paralysis sustained about two years ago. The deceased was born in Fultonville, N. Y., in 1838 and there grew to manhood. In the civil war he served with Company E, 44th New York regiment of volunteer infantry, and was a member of the local G. A. R. post. He removed to Janesville in 1869 and has since lived here. He conducted a fur and awning establishment on Court street and was highly respected by all. He leaves to mourn his death a wife, two daughters, Mrs. Mabel Gleason of La-Prairie and Miss Jessie Hillabrandt, two brothers in Fulton county, N. Y., and a sister at West Point, N. Y. Announcement of the funeral will be made later.

All that is mortal of the late Mrs. I. C. Sloan was brought here from Milwaukee this morning and laid at rest in Oak Hill cemetery. "I have no ticket," said the muzhik, naively.

"No ticket?" cried the conductor. "Then off you go, you scoundrel, at the very next station."

"And at the next station, accordingly, the muzhik was put off with a half dozen thumps in the ribs."

"He waited till another Petersburg train came along, he boarded this train, too, and at the next station, with more thumps in the ribs, he was again put off."

"Undaunted, he boarded the third train and a third time he was beaten and put off."

"A passenger who alighted at the same place was interested in the muzhik, and said sympathetically: 'Where is it, you are going, my friend?'"

"The muzhik with a patient smile replied: 'To St. Petersburg, if my ribs will stand it.'"

MADE THE PERFECT PEARL

Process Discovered by French Chemist Produces a Faultless Specimen.

A French chemist, M. Tecla by name, has recently succeeded after 11 years of research in discovering a process to scientifically produce a pearl that would equal the product of nature. The fact that rubies and pearls have been scientifically produced has stimulated manufacturers of these precious stones to seek a duplicate of the pearl, the popularity of which has been growing steadily in public demand.

To this end perfect specimens of the pearl have been continuously sought after, and in many cases fabulous amounts are frequently paid for a faultless stone. It is said that through a secret known only to himself M. Tecla has succeeded in attaining his ambition to produce what is apparently a genuine pearl at one-sixth the cost of the orient specimen, a calcareous concretion, indestructible and of the adamant quality and exact weight of the real stone, with skin of fine and delicate texture and of a clear, almost translucent color, with the subdued iridescent sheen so dear to judges of these very fascinating gems. M. Tecla has only recently finished the experimental stage and it will be quite some time before his results will be brought before the public.

The best of it was "that it didn't hurt him one bit."

People don't say such things unless it means something.

The facts are that Dr. Richards receives just such assurances from hundreds of his patients.

Possibility of a District Oratorical Contest—Declaratory Contest Postponed.

Again this year an effort is being made to give the boy declaimers in the high schools of the Whitewater Normal league a better chance to show their powers than they are given in the regular declamatory contests, where the young ladies have usually carried off the honors.

The committee of high school principals in charge of the declamatory contest, of which H. C. Buell is the chairman, have issued a circular announcing that schools desiring to have a representative in a boys' district oratorical contest should give notification at once. If there are enough responses arrangements will be made. In this the competitors will deliver an oration of some noted statesman. In the same circular it is announced that the date of the regular district declamatory contest has been changed, at the request of two counties, from May 4 to May 11.

The Misses Echlin Thought Safe— Many Local Relatives of San Francisco Residents Receive No Word.

Knowledge that some Janesville people thought to have been in San Francisco at the time of the terrible earthquake there yesterday morning and during the great conflagration that is following, are safe has been received by relatives here, while the fate of many others are still unknown. A postal card was received this morning from the Misses Julia and Edith Echlin. This message stated that they were to leave Los Angeles Monday, arriving in the Pacific metropolis in the evening and there expected to stay a day. If this program was carried out, they departed from Frisco Tuesday evening, probably ten hours before the shocks came. No other word has been received from them, however. Last evening a telegram was received from John Harlow, announcing: "We are safe." This "we" is taken to mean E. H. Harlow and family, former Bower City residents; John Harlow and Kramer Dohy, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. P. Dohy, who has been living with the Harlows the past few months. Miss Leffingwell, who was thought yesterday might be in the Golden Gate, arrived in Janesville last evening.

It is very likely that William R. Norris, for two years a member of the Janesville high school faculty, was in the ill-fated city yesterday. Local friends have received word, sent the first part of the week, that he was at Santa Rosa and was en route to San Francisco. Mrs. E. McCarthy is anxiously awaiting some message from her sister, Mrs. Brandt, who with her two sons, resides on Golden Gate avenue in the Pacific metropolis. Alie Kazook is among those who are worried, having many relatives in Frisco. Santell, the strong man who headed the hill at the West Side early in the week, watched the news closely yesterday, having a home and wife there. Up to two o'clock this afternoon no word had been received from P. E. Nicholson, who was undoubtedly in the doomed city yesterday. Mrs. Celia Cummings, 54 Park avenue, has a brother and a sister in Frisco. Their place of business was on California street, one of those which suffered most severely.

The Chimney of the World

How Vesuvius, Sunny Italy's Old Mountain Demon, Acts When Aroused

Crim Volcanic Monster Belches Forth Red Snakes of Lava, Miles In Length, That Dart and Hiss, Wiping Out Villages and Towns as They Move. Numbers His Victims by the Hundreds of Thousands. When in Eruption, Roars Like the Day of Judgment

WHEN a mountain goes to roaring and bellowing, splitting its sides, blowing its top off and destroying all the cities and towns in its vicinity, man takes to the woods. Ordinary catastrophes he may receive with criticism, with revellings, even with blasphemy, but when the earth goes to doing things he has not a word to say. That is too appalling for comment. Cyclones, floods, fires, famines and pestilences are everyday afflictions. When man is assailed by them he is not entirely swept off his feet. He can show fight. But when the earth quivers with pain or howls with agony there is nothing left for the human animal but to lie down and die or slide for the tall timber. Talk is entirely out of the question. It is not at home in the volcanic atmosphere. If the voice is used at all it is only for inarticulate sounds. Words are too artificial for such elemental surroundings.

Nature's Ash Heap.

Vesuvius has been called "the chimney of the world," likewise "nature's ash heap," also several other names that fall a million miles short of being as horrible as the thing they seek to describe. There is no word or comparisons, some of them severe. Naples has been frequently sprinkled with ashes. Torre del Greco has been swamped by a half dozen times or more. Other towns have been threatened and nearly buried with ashes, lava has been poured all over the mountain and down into the sea, next craters have been formed, only in turn to be obliterated, while other yawning mouths were made, and over and over again from out of the demon heart of the volcano has been belched an infernal torrent to overwhelm the peaceful land below.

Rarely Entirely at Rest.

The mountain is seldom entirely at rest. It may be but a thin wisp of steam that arises from it, just a reminder to the world that it is not dead. All the while lava will be pushed up into the crater, where it will harden and form a sort of stopper. Then either the cork must be blown out or the bottle broken. Sometimes both things happen at once. Even the neck has been blown entirely off at times. In the present eruption, the whole mountain top, nearly 600 feet of it, was demolished. Often the great sugar loaf of a hill is split, rent and battered out of all semblance to its former self. Great masses of rock weighing thousands of tons are borne upward by the tremendous pressure of the gases, at first slowly, but with ever accelerated speed, finally to be tossed high above the mountain top and crash back upon the slopes with an earthquake shock. One such giant boulder was thrown out of the crater that it was estimated would require over half a million horsepower to lift. Ashes and steam are blown through the opening with such force that they take the form of an immense pine tree, as described by the younger Pliny in his letters to Tacitus.

Thousands of Victims.

No one can tell the numbers of its dead. There is no exact record of those who perished at Herculaneum and Pompeii nor in the centuries since. It is impossible even to number those who fell in the last fearful eruption, the greatest that the mountain has given forth since that initial one in the days of Titus. Thousands of tourists have lost their lives seeking only to look upon Vesuvius in its quieter moods. Hundreds of thousands have paid the penalty for daring to till its fertile slopes. One city, Torre del Greco, has been swallowed up over and over again, and each time a new town has arisen on the lava and ashes that had buried the old, thus making a sort of municipal layer cake, as it were. When an earthquake once opened a seam through the town a man descending into the chasm found himself in a church. The human animal is a daring brute, after all.

It is a saying in the Vesuvian region that "Naples sins and Torre del Greco pays the penalty." The smaller city is a sort of a buffer against the divine wrath. Yet through the ages has persisted a prophecy that at last Naples would have to pay her own debts, for she herself would fall a victim to the ire of the mountain.

Millions Lost in Money.

The great loss from the recent eruption, the total destruction of Boscorene, a city of nearly 10,000, the partial destruction of Ottaviano, Soriano and many other cities and villages, the wiping out of little farms and vineyards, the hundreds killed and the tens of thousands driven from their homes, the terrors and discomforts of the half million people living in the vicinity of these things it is impossible for cold type to tell. The money loss alone is estimated at over $20,000,000. There are over 50,000 homeless.

The falling of the roof of the great market at Naples, killing or injuring nearly 200 people, caused the citizens to shovel the ashes from their roofs to prevent other like catastrophes. As the ashes sifted down the backs of the pedestrians the language grew quite as lurid and volcanic as the mountain itself. The fights that resulted rather relieved the tense strain.

There have been few greater examples of modern heroism than that of Professor Mattucci, in charge of the observatory of Mount Vesuvius. The loss of life would undoubtedly have been much greater had it not been for the timely warnings sent out by this soldier of science. Through all the frightful days of the eruption he remained at his post dispatching messages of cheer to the distracted inhabitants, taking records and observing the phenomena of the terrifying upheaval that constantly threatened his own life. Associated with Professor Mattucci is an American, Frank A. Perret, formerly of Brooklyn.

Vesuvius has been in a state of more than wonted agitation for a year, but without doing any especial damage, except to the railroad that leads to the cone. It is as though the ancient mountain was not entirely devoid of sympathy for the human ants that swarm about its base and had given a long warning of the disaster to come. The ants failed to heed the sign, however, having grown familiar with the impending doom.

Where Poets Seek Inspiration.

A few weeks ago the Neapolitan district was glowing into all the loveliness of a southern Italian spring. Grass was growing green, buds were swelling, to leaf, the earlier flowers were in blossom, birds and bees filled the air with music, and over all arched the soft, blue sky of Italy. Nature there puts on so fair a seeming that for over 2,000 years this region has given birth to some of the world's sweetest songs. Even the poets of England and America go to Italy for inspiration. And why not? For in that clime nature herself is a poem that only needs to be translated into the music of words. No country of the earth has been so hallowed in poetry and romance, and of all Italy no section is more entrancing than that surrounding the sparkling bay of Naples.

Today that earthly paradise is a vast Sahara desert. Over all the region's far as the breath of the monster could reach there is left no green thing.

The villas are swallowed up, the cities are dead, the smiling valleys and plains are a desolation, the vineyards, bowers and gardens are waste places. In all the march of science and progress Nature comes to remind us of our weakness. While we boast of our mastery over her, she overwhelms us; while vaunting ourselves that we have learned her secrets, she presents to us her ancient mystery, and while sitting secure in our little happiness she swallows it all in one red night of earthquake and destruction.

Yet in the end it is we who triumph, for after her night there comes another morning, and we arise and rebuild our earthly paradise.

VESUVIUS IN ERUPTION AND QUIESCENT—THE ROYAL OBSERVATORY.

blination of words that comes within speaking distance of that. All of them are not only inadequate, but in legal phraseology are "immaterial," incompetent, irrelevant and have no bearing on the case. After Goethe had been to see Vesuvius he said something about hell hanging over paradise, which as a description of the contrast between the old mountain demon and sunny Italy round about is perhaps as near to the thing as human language can come; so it is just as well to let it go at that.

If seven battles and seventeen thunderstorms could be combined in one the resultant noise would be something like that of Vesuvius when "working." It howls, whistles, screams, thunders, toots, bellows and rips up the universe generally. In other words, it makes a noise like the day of judgment. If you have never heard a mountain whoop and carry on when it gets ready to shoot up the town and country also—then get your life insured and go to Vesuvius. It will be worth the money. If you get back alive you will be able to say, as did Artemus Ward after visiting the tomb of Shakespeare, "It was a success."

Over 1,500 years ago Vesuvius came into existence. It was in the year 79, and the young Titus was on the throne of Rome, then practically the throne of the world. There is no record of a Vesuvius before that year, though Mount Somma, the smaller mountain beside it, was well known. Tradition has it that the larger peak actually was brought into being in that most disastrous of all eruptions when Pompeii, Herculaneum, Stabiae and smaller towns were swallowed up almost instantly and forever. In Italy folk still speak of that as the time "when Vesuvius was born and Pompeii died."

Since then there have been many eruptions, some of them severe. Naples has been frequently sprinkled with ashes. Torre del Greco has been swamped by a half dozen times or more. Other towns have been threatened and nearly buried with ashes, lava has been poured all over the mountain and down into the sea, next craters have been formed, only in turn to be obliterated, while other yawning mouths were made, and over and over again from out of the demon heart of the volcano has been belched an infernal torrent to overwhelm the peaceful land below.

...FORTY YEARS AGO...

Janesville Daily Gazette, Thursday, April 19, 1866.—
GREAT ROBBERY OF SILKS

$2,000 Worth of Property Taken Off.

The store of McKay Bros. was the theatre last night of one of the most successful robberies which ever occurred in this city. Some time during the night the store of the above-named firm was entered by burglars and about $2,000 worth of black silks was carried off. The robbery was well planned and successfully executed, the rascals engaged in it first going to the dwelling house of Mr. Grange, the cashier of the establishment, and taking from his pantaloons pocket one of the keys and from the bureau where he had placed the other key to the outside doors. They then repaired to the store, entered, locked the back door. So far as can be ascertained nothing but black silks were taken, and the wrapping papers were even taken from them, that there might be nothing whatever to identify them with.

This robbery was evidently effected by one well acquainted in the city, or at least the ground was surveyed by such an one even if the work was performed by an outsider. We have a class of idle, dissolute young men hanging about this city, who have no visible means of support, and who are none too good to engage in such work. It is high time the town was rid of such loafers, and if the authorities do not arrest them for vagrancy they will be derelict in duty. Shall it not be done at once?

Handsome Done.—There was very pleasant feature in the reunion at the Presbyterian church last night. After the company had largely assembled, Willard Merrill, Esq., address of the pastor on behalf of his people and friends, in a very appropriate and touching little speech, thanking him for his efficient and faithful labors among them, and remarking that he held in his hand something over $300 which he had been requested to hand him, not as a donation, but as slight testimonial of their regard for him, and as an evidence from them that his efforts were appreciated. The compliment was handsomely and duly acknowledged by Mr. Thompson. The whole amount of the testimonial was about $320.

WOMEN'S WOES.

Janesville Women Are Finding Relief at Last.

It does seem that women have more than a fair share of the aches and pains that afflict humanity; they must "keep up," must "attend to" duties in spite of constantly aching backs, or headaches, dizzy spells, bearing down pains; they must stoop over, when to stoop means torture. They must walk and bend and work with aching pains, and many aches from kidney ailments. Kidneys cause more suffering than any other organ of the body. Keep the kidneys well and health is easily maintained. Read of a remedy for kidneys only that helps and cures the kidneys and is endorsed by people you know.

Mrs. W. Johnson of 127 Pearl St., Janesville, Wis., says: "For a long time I had severe pains in my back that must have been due to some disorder of the kidneys. It was almost constant aching and misery in the small of my back and became so severe at times that I was almost prostrated. Numerous remedies that I tried failed to help me and finally I began using Doan's Kidney Pills, which I had seen highly recommended by local people, procured at the People's Drug company. After using this remedy for a short time I found a complete cure, and the trouble has not returned."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-McMullen Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States. Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.
